February 2021

"What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us."

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

Now that 2021 is upon us, there is hope in the air. A new year oftentimes will arrive like a breath of fresh air--people have looked back on the past year and made plans for this coming year. Now is the time to look within each of ourselves and decide on how we will move forth.

At Hurricane Intermediate, a new semester has begun. We encourage students to be positive and to do their best this new grading period. While we prefer that students complete and submit assignments by their due date, we stress that the value of an assignment is in the task itself. Turning in an assignment late is better than not turning it in at all. Learning occurs in the process of reading, practicing, and pondering. With the parental support and encouragement, students will excel.

We are in this together. Our teachers, staff, counselors, and administration are committed to helping all students learn. This commitment can be seen in the classroom, in pull-out groups, in our home rooms, and in our media center. We have faculty teams who discuss at-risk students and strive to find ways to help them succeed. We sponsor several programs which encourage positive behavior, support social and emotional learning, and support a wellness center in our school.

It is our hope that our efforts, combined with those offered at home, will inspire our students to greater heights. Rewarding students with awards or prizes gives us short-term successes--which is good. However, if we communicate that a student can achieve anything if they are willing to put forth the effort, we will make an immeasurable difference in their lives.

"Inspiration is being motivated by a person or an idea. Motivation is being inspired by an object. When people are inspired, they don't need motivation." --Thomas Leonard, Life Coach
