a message from our school counselor:

Dear Jaguar Parents and Students,

The mission of our school: “to ensure that every student is high-achieving and well-rounded” can be attained with your support. Now that the sometimes overwhelming time of the end of the 1st trimester has come, we want to encourage you to reach out to your child’s teacher(s) if you still have questions or concerns regarding the expectations in any of your child’s classes. Our teachers work so hard, so please continue to support them and say “thank you” every chance you get!

Your child is forming learning habits that will continue to foster academic growth, and help your child to achieve their life-long goals. The basics for academic and life-long success need to be talked about on a regular basis, as we teach our children to practice these skills. Some important things to include in these discussions include: attendance, being on time for school, and to every class period. It is helpful to have a discussion with your child on a regular basis about turning in all of their assignments, and staying committed to their own education. The points they earn add up, and their grades reflect the hard work they are doing. We are having conversations with your children about the 7 Habits of Highly Effective Teens by Stephen R. Covey. Please ask your child about these lessons; together, we can do this!

The counselors will hold group Plan College and Career Readiness (P.C.C.R.) meetings in your child’s 7th grade CCA/CTE classes before Christmas Vacation/Winter Holiday, so please be on the look-out for an email with more information. We invite each of you to attend these P.C.C.R. meetings, and look forward to these conversations.

With Thanksgiving upon us, we want to say THANK YOU to each of you, and hope you all are well.

Mrs. McMullin

School Counselor
